FIRE INSURANCE NOTICES, &c. SOUTHERN PROTECTION INSURANCE COMPANY, ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA.

CAPITAL OVER 350,000 DOLLARS,
AND CONSTANTLY INCREASING.
The Charter of this Company offers more favorable advantages to the farmer and others, than any Company chartered in the State, by insuring with or without a premium note. If the applicant prefer, he can pay the full amount of the premium in each, or by effecting a each insurance for two years, the insured saves one eighth of the amount e would otherwise have to pay; or by becoming a member, and giving a small premium note, the in-sured saves nearly one half of the amount charged by Stock Companies, when insuring from year to year. This is the advantage resulting from the CASH AND MUTUAL PRINCIPLE.

This Company commenced issuing Policies against loss or damage by fire, on the 13th day of March, 1854, since which time over seven thousand seven hundred persons have insured and become members of the Company, and over seventy thousand dollars have been paid for losses. Having mereased our business during the past year, we feel grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the Company thus far, and for its flattering prospects of future usefulness. The Directors hope and believe, that, by prudence, caution, and a rigid system of economy, they will establish for this Company a reputation for cheapness and safety not surpassed by any Company in the U. States. All differences in settlement of losses, may be determined by three disinterested arbitrators of the County where such loss happened, to be mutually 600 chosen by the insured and the Company.

SHAKING HANDS. Smith O'Brien, in his speech at Albany, gave the following admonition: "Of one practice that is prevalent with you wish to say a word. It is that of shaking hands. Since my arrival in the country have been surrounded by crowds of wellwishers whose desire seemed to be to have a shake hands with me. In Ireland this practice does not prevail; but here it seems to be a universal custom. I may have offended some by neglecting to observe it, and of such, if any there be, I beg pardon. I am a lover of labor, and the friend of laborers, and would as readily shake hands with the poor man as with the rich, but this shaking hands so often I have found to be beyond my physical ability. I assure you that on one occasion, recently, I found it so extremely laboraous, that after having thus recognised a very large crowd of friends, I was literally unable to hold up my hand. I hope, therefore, that not one of you will be offended because of my shortcomings in this respect on the present occasion; but if there is one who has taken offence on this account, I can only hope that he will sometime be made Mayor or State representative, or some such dignitary, the election to which office will involve this laborious duty of shaking hands. He will then learn what an extraordinary exertion is requisite to keep it up, and be more lenient towards those who forego it from sheer exhaustion. Men in the habit of wielding daily a sledge hammer that weighs twentyfive or thirty pounds come and shake hands, and I assure you that the squeeze is like that of a vice. In this respect I am not soliciting your forbearance so much for myself as for yourpublic men." GEN. SHIELDS ON BARRELS.

A short time since Gen. Shields, landing at Hastings, on the Mississippi, compared his freight and bill of lading, one item calling for seven barrels. Strange to say, how ever, the General could only find on the landing six barrels! He was heard counting them over several times with the same un satisfactory result each time. Moving the index finger of his right hand up and down in a pointed manner at each barrel, thus he soliloquised aloud with deliberate military emphasis: "One—two—three—four—five—six." And shaking his head with dignified gravity, saying, "Something wrong here," he recommenced his count. "One—two—three -four-five-six; where the-is the other barrel?" Full of wrath, he was proceeding to demand the production of the missing cask from the officers of the boat, when lo! on his getting up for this purpose, from where he was surveying, with characteristic dignity and gravity, his goods and sundries, it was discovered, to his infinite amusement and that of the bystanders, that he had been sitting on the missing seventh barrel!
